

Postponed to December 2022:
wire China 2022 now in Nanjing from 21 to 24 December

As the pandemic control measures are still in place in parts of China, the organisers of wire China have decided to move the trade fair for the wire and cable industry, which had already been postponed to November, even further into the winter and to hold it from 21 to 24 December at the Nanjing International Expo Center.

The control measures in Nanjing have also become stricter in the meantime, so that the holding of large events such as trade fairs is currently not recommended.

For December, the organisers currently expect the overall pandemic situation to ease and thus also the measures to be taken. The renewed postponement is intended to offer exhibitors and visitors even more security.

Three trade conferences will also complement the fair in December: Wire & Cable Industry Conference, China Wire & Cable Material Conference and China Winding Wire Conference. The visitor registration system will remain active at www.wirechina.net.
